The 200-bedroom Montcalm Marble Arch hotel, London, has been awarded a five-star rating from the AA.
Located in Great Cumberland Place within the Portman Square conservation area, the hotel has two restaurants – the Grill fine dining and the Crescent serving a brasserie-style menu, as well as a cocktail bar, spa and fitness centre.

Ramesh Arora, managing director of the Montcalm, said: "We are delighted our outstanding attention to detail and the team's hard work has been rewarded in such a prestigious manner. The hotel is superbly run by our excellent general manager Sabine Altschaeffi, who, with our outstanding staff, ensures every guest's experience is truly exceptional."

Giovanna Grossi, group area manager from AA Hotel Services added that the hotel has "worked long and hard and invested heavily to achieve the excellent level of quality and high standards required to achieve five stars."

The Montcalm Marble Arch is the flagship hotel of The Montcalm Group, alongside the Montcalm London City at the Brewery, the Marble Arch by Montcalm, London City Suites by the Montcalm. Two further properties – the Montcalm Signature Tower London City and the Montcalm Finsbury Square – are due to open next year.
